Carves body orientations using shells, bone, stone, and other indigenous rocks found of the island. His specialty is carving pendants made from clam (hima) and spondylus shells. His signature jewelry is his carving of two types of moons carved into one shell. The significance of this design depicts traditional ways of hunting on Guam using the moon. He is more widely known for his many years of traditional cooking and carving. He is also a seasoned talayeru and spends his time weaving his favorite items such as hats, baskets, and fans. Speaks fluent Chamorro and has provided community service through cooking, carving, and weaving demonstrations.

As an amateur photographer, I'm still developing a particular "style". I am not locked onto one particular specialty. For portraits, I try to capture images that elicit an emotion or tell a story. When shooting landscapes, I prefer images that are calming or peaceful. I enjoy capturing candid shots of people, where emotions are revealed. I guess my work can be described as free spirited and independent.

I am an artist focused on visual arts 2D (acrylics, block prints, pastels, pens, etc.) although I am doing some work with ceramic 3D at present. Most of my work is painting or block print. I focus on presenting from local Guam/ Micronesian sites, landscapes, objects and life such as undersea life or scenes. I also paint or include places and things I see or have seen in my travels around the region and world. While I like to focus on realism, I also enjoy presenting abstract interpretations of things I've seen, heard, and done.

Francis Labrador has been doing art commissions for over 10 years, from murals to traditional canvas paintings. He is known for his acrylic paintings, drawings, murals, caricatures, and graphic design. Francis Labrador has won many competitions with two recent ones from connects "What Makes Guam Fun?" and GTA's "Pokeman's Design Contest." Perhaps what makes Francis' work stand out is his creative approach to his design. Fusing imagination with reality is his expertise. He has also acquired various art styles through his commissions and capable of offering clients with services that stem from abstract to pointillism.

Most of my work has depictions or representation of Chamorro culture, but not limited to said subject matter. Most of my work is 2D media, but I have more passion for any media in 3D – metal casting, woodwork, ceramics, etc. I've been teaching secondary art since 1999 and I've decided to get back to creating art again and hopefully for an indefinite period. I just want to create art from my heart and share it with others.

Paul B. Mendiola

#3 Belle Gumataotao Circle

paulmend@hotmail.com

Paul B. Mendiola is a local CHamoru artist specializing in acrylics and oils on canvas medium. He was born in 1974 and was raised in the village of Sinajana. Throughout his early years as a student, he was known for his artistic abilities. He won several art competitions and was offered a scholarship to travel abroad for art workshops as a young developing artist. In 1992, he graduated from Guam Adventist Academy where he took several art classes. After high school, he attended and graduated from La Sierra University and Loma Linda University both in California where he obtained degrees in Health Science and Dental Hygiene respectively. While attending La Sierra University, he enrolled in several art classes including art history, oil painting and sculpture. These classes helped refine his artistic abilities. After living abroad for 20 years, mainly in Southern California, Paul returned to Guam to practice dental hygiene, share his artistic talents and to inspire young students who are interested in the visual arts. Shortly before the COVID-19 pandemic, Paul was visited by a childhood friend who commissioned him to do an art piece. This project and being furloughed from his job due to the pandemic reignited his passion for creating art. He has created over 100 pieces in the span of 3 years. His works could be found in private residences and businesses locally on island, La Sierra University, Kosrae, California, Florida, Oregon, Virginia and Texas. He also had a brief stint teaching art in 2022 at his alma mater, Guam Adventist Academy. Paul specializes in Guam island scenery and local marine life. He has been commissioned to do custom pieces such as portraits and still life images. It is his goal to spread the appreciation, love and beauty of his CHamoru culture throughout the world through visual arts. Paul markets and shares his passion and creativity with locals, former residents of Guam, visiting tourists, and to those who have an appreciation of Guam's unique and natural beauty. For more information or to purchase his creative work please contact him by email, text or on social media.

My artwork is a reflection of my environment. Common themes are socio-culture, anthropological, and environmental issues relating to Guam, the Marianas, and Micronesia. The mediums I work in include acrylics, water color, ink, graphite, charcoal, pastels, and color pencil. Nature figures strongly in work, and I like to present images of Guam's biodiversity and varied cultural heritage.

Local artist that specializes in custom watercolor art. Her inspiration comes from Guam's natural beauty. With a style all her own, she uses Guam's ocean water when painting with watercolors, and in some Resin pieces, she is able to add sand from Guam's beautiful beaches.

Her art reflects beauty and imperfection with the raw flow of water in each watercolor painting. She finds beauty in the simple things such as flowers, plants, animals, and amplifies their beauty with black lines. These lines represent her love and appreciation for her subject.

Historic Inalahan Foundation, Inc. is a tax-exempt, NPO registered whose mission is to maintain, promote, and revitalize the Inalahan Historic district through educational and cultural activities. Historic Inalahan operates Gef Pa'go Park, Chamorro cultural village, located in thatched huts along the bay. Folkways and crafts are demonstrated by masters and trained staff. Tours of the historic district, workshops, and cultural camps are offered. Gef Pa'go means beautiful in ancient Chamorro. The village reflects the way the Chamorro's lived in the early 1900's. The historic district is comprised of homes built in the early 1900's of native ifil hardwood and limestone mortar. Historic Inalahan involves youth in cultural preservation and promotional activities, including painting and maintenance of Inalahan's Painted History Walk along San Jose Avenue (former Sallai Haya). Three annual festivals open to the public with free admission. Visit our website at www.gefpagoguam.org
